

"SPLASH" DOWN! Another Dog Rescued from LA River

click for news coverage

Mar 2, 2010 5:35 pm:

Firefighters Rescue Dog From Rushing River

click for earlier live video

A dog caught in the rain-swollen Los Angeles River was rescued Tuesday afternoon, after being caught in the fast-moving water for nearly 90 minutes.

SEAACA officers asked South Gate Fire Station 54 firefighters for help when they could not get to the animal in the river, north of Firestone Boulevard. The dog was rescued from peril by a firefighter wielding a net.

The dog is a female terrier mix, about one year old. She is now safely at SEAACA, where she's been named "Splash." SEAACA will seek her owners or make Splash available for adoption if she is unclaimed.